Name That Disease!

Pits grizzled rural practitioner against young scientist and super computer. They come up with same diagnosis, that is none.

Patient X disappoints again, but enjoys the perks of the show, applause and limos and pretty girls.

But the computer isn’t quite done.
Just before overheating it spits out
“Have you ever been to Borneo?”

Ralph Gadshil, MC, won’t let him answer till next week.
A necessary delay,

according to Nielsen, but one day someone expires in the interim assures Gray Lady Times.

Name That Disease! franchise answers with genteel guffaws,

plus 25%-off coupons
for OTC standards.